APAFS eyes RP for regional investment conference

THE Asia-Pacific Association for Fiduciary Studies (APAFS) will hold the Annual Pacific Region Investment Conference (PRIC) in the Philippines later this year.

This is the ninth consecutive year that APAFS has organized the prestigious investment conference.

Financial executives and professionals, together with members of fiduciary institutions from all over the region, will gather to learn from world-class experts and meet colleagues from relevant industries.

The investment conference aims to provide its expected 300 delegates current and fundamental understanding of global issues and regional trends.

Daniel Roland, executive director of APAFS, shares his anticipation, saying, "The 9th Annual Pacific Region Investment Conference will be one to watch out for. With uncertainty looming over the financial world, we turn to experienced experts to shed light on the current issues and trends—and help Asian nations take necessary steps to protect their economies."

Since 2000, APAFS has served to provide guidance and leadership for fiduciary institutions and investment professionals in the Asia-Pacific region. The association has embraced its role as an educator on financial literacy, consistently pushing for responsible fund management and prudent stewardship.
